Yesterday, the Thunder Bay District Health Unit (TBDHU) and St. Joseph's Care Group (SJCG) confirmed that an outbreak was declared at Hogarth Riverview Manor (HRM), fourth floor, in Thunder Bay.

In recent testing, one SJCG staff member was found to be positive for COVID-19. At this time, no residents or other staff members have been identified as having symptoms.

Consistent with provincial guidelines, the outbreak declaration for COVID-19 in a long-term care home is made when one staff or resident is found to be positive for COVID-19. This low threshold for declaring an outbreak ensures that outbreak management measures, including increased infection and control practices, can be put in place swiftly to contain any further spread.

Prior to the outbreak, significant measures had already been put in place by HRM to reduce the likelihood of transmission of the virus in the facility.

TBDHU and St. Joseph's Care Group will continue to collaborate on the ongoing investigation and management of this outbreak. For more information, visit <https://www.tbdhu.com/news/covid-19-outbreak-declared-at-hogarth-riverview-manor>

In addition, yesterday the TBDHU reported three new cases of COVID-19, including one admitted to hospital.
